

The Calgary Sun (Calgary, AB)			Order/Commande
			129177
Date 15.01.2010	Circ. 54947	Page 10	1 / 1

JIM WELLS/CALGARY SUN

Raising the roof

Construction workers hoist a 100-ft., 20,000 lb., glue-laminated beam into place at the ice rinks under construction at Canada Olympic Park yesterday. The beam was one of the first supports to be put in place to support the roof in what will be one of four rinks at the all-season park on Calgary's west side. The park was a major sports venue when Calgary hosted the Winter Olympic Games in 1988. One of the rinks being built will be Olympic-sized when the complex is completed.

Fleury files complaint with cops
 Former team mate hopes this official report of abuse will put ex-coach back in jail

German fugitive shipped home

Sex offender sent back to Sudan

Raising the roof

